

Rotarians served the British Crown Colony Hong Kong Legislative Council

As Presidents / Members / Secretary General

By Herbert K. Lau (劉敬恒) (Rotary China Historian)

1 November 2016

The old Supreme Court building has been the house of the Legislative Council from 1985 until 2011.

This article attempts to list out those Rotarians who had served the British Crown Colony Hong Kong Legislative Council (英屬香港立法局) as Presidents (主席) / Members (議員) / Secretary General (秘書長) before 1 July 1997, in alphabetical order of their surnames.

The Legislative Council of the British Crown Colony Hong Kong was set up in 1843 for the first time as a colonial legislature under British rule. Hong Kong's first constitution, in the form of Queen Victoria's letters patent, issued on 27 June 1843 and titled the 《Charter of the Colony of Hong Kong》, authorized the establishment of the Legislative Council to advise the Governor of Hong Kong's administration. The Council had four official members including the Governor who was President of the Council when it was first established. The 《Letters Patent of 1888》, which replaced the 1843 Charter, added the significant words “and consent” after the words “with the advice”. The Legislative Council was initially set up as the advisory body to the Governor, and for the most of the time, consisted half of official members, who were the government officials seated in the Council, and half of unofficial members who were appointed by the Governor.

After the《Sino-British Joint Declaration》was signed on 19 December 1984 (in which the United Kingdom agreed to transfer the sovereignty of Hong Kong to the People's Republic of China on 1 July 1997), the Hong Kong Government decided to start the process of democratization based on the consultative document, 《Green Paper: the Further Development of Representative Government in Hong Kong》on 18 July 1984. The first elections to the Council were held in 1985, followed by the first direct elections of the Legislative Council held in 1991. The Legislative Council became a fully elected legislature for the first time in 1995 and extensively expanded its functions and organizations throughout the last years of the colonial rule until 30 June 1997.
