About the GWA Program

Subsidized by Education and Youth Bureau, the Goodwill Ambassador to Mongolia is a rewarding program organized by the Rotaract Club of Macau.

Led by Rotaractors, a team of 2 to 4 people between the ages of 18 – 26 will be chosen to go to Mongolia for a period of 8 days to learn more about the local culture in November 2007. Rotaract Club in Mongolia will organize activities and events such as visiting local firms, schools, factories, offices and national organizations apart from visiting valuable tourist attractions in order to improve participants' knowledge of Mongolia.

The role of the selected team will act as goodwill ambassadors of Macau to promote Macau in Mongolia.

Aims of the Program

To provide opportunities for personal and group activities to serve the community and promote international understanding and goodwill to all people.

To develop professional and leadership skill for young professional between 18 - 26 years old.

To recognize outstanding young professionals in Macau and offer them professional development opportunity.

To promote the spirit of Rotaract Club of Macau (RAC Macau), spread the goodwill of the Club and recruit potential members.

Benefits of the Program

Improve communicate skills and self-development.

Great opportunity for professional development.

Facilitate teamwork and the importance of working in teams

Gain a better understanding of participants' own countries and outside countries.

Get involve in community event and obtain new knowledge and experience.

A chance to gain a FREE opportunity to explore a different world, meet new people, obtain valuable knowledge and once-in-life experience through an organized cultural exchange trip.

Message from Project Coordinator

The Goodwill Ambassador Program sponsored and conducted by The Rotaract Club of Macao has been drawing my attention for several years. I personally endorsed that the GWA Program is offering a very good platform in achieving the objectives and goals of Rotary/Rotaract:

Through the sponsorship and guidance of The Rotary Club of Macao in the avenue of youth service, the Rotaractors are initiative in serving the youth of public by offering such constructive program in promoting international understanding and friendship; and in building the images of Macao, Rotary and Rotaract; extending the Rotary spirit to the public at large through the media and the process of selecting the outstanding awardees ... By conducting the program, Rotaractors learn the meaning of "Above Self Service" in a 3D manner -- club / community / international services, and of course, professional development practices.

When I received the request from Rotarian Florence Hui (a former Rotaractor) earlier this year asking the possibility in arranging the Goodwill visit to Mongolia, I replied immediately with promising actions. Through the hard work of Rotaractor Peggy Lei (International Service Director), the result has been proven successful after the return of the 9 Goodwill Ambassadors from Mongolia last month. There is a long list to comment but I would like to highlight some points:

- (1) positive international friendship has been established between the youth of Mongolia and Macao;
- (2) our Macao fellows has gained the experience of the diplomatic relationship with the neighbouring country;
- (3) the young men and women from the coastal city in the Tropical Zone are now fully understood the living environment of the people on plateau near the Arctic Circle; the differences in natural resources that affecting ways of life; the differences in culture in terms of race, religion, language, etc., though the Region of Macao had been part of the Mongol Empire 800 years ago; but
- (4) there is one thing in common -- we are in the same Rotary family. We are brothers and sisters through the ideals and goals of Rotary services.

When I was asked to be the "bridge" between Macao and Mongolia for the Rotaractors, I have no reason to say "No". I have been serving Rotaract for the last 30 years. In the 1970s before I joined Rotary, I was working in "Student Affairs" of The Chinese University of Hong Kong. One of my taking care student bodies was The Rotaract Club of United College -- the first Rotaract Club in Hong Kong. I joined Rotary in 1981. From then on, I became the Rotaract Advisor to Chung Chi College for 4 years; the District Rotaract Chair for 2 years; 3 times invited by RI presidents to speak at international Rotaract conventions; instrumentally to form 8 Rotaract clubs -- 4 in Hong Kong and 4 in Mongolia -- in both university and community bases...

"The Architect finds A Builder" -- The Rotary Club of Macau is the "Architect" of the Rotaract Club and the Goodwill Ambassador Program, the Rotaractors are already excellent "Builders". If you do not mind to accept "one more old builder", count me in ...

Joining the Rotaract Club of Macau is the most meaningful thing that I have done this year and I am so proud to be one of the members of this big family.

I am grateful that I can have the opportunity to work with all the people who are so intelligent, energetic, passionate and considerate in the past few months.

The Goodwill Ambassador to Mongolia would not be so successful without the help from all the people of the “big family” and I would like to thank everyone again here.

Thank Mr. Herbert Lau, Mr. Ip Pui Fai and Florence for giving us all useful information and advice so that the delegation could be well-prepared before they headed to Mongolia!

Thank Mr. Alex Covell, Mr. Herbert Lee, President Filipe and Alberto for being the judges for the presentation day so that we have selected the 5 wonderful young men and ladies!

Thank you Rotary and Rotaract Club of Tuul, and the Rotaract Club of NUM for the great hospitality and arrangements made for the GWA delegations so that they learnt a lot about “energy saving” from the trip!

Thank Sam, Raymond and Kevin for being the judge and leader for the interview camp so that all the participants had a great time with us!

Thank Carita, Eugenia, Stephen and President Alberto again for being the leaders of the trip to Mongolia so that the 5 ambassadors could have the best care!

Thank the GWA ambassadors Canny, Ellie, Chester, Costa and Jason for being so mature and outstanding during the trip to Mongolia so that the goodwill and Rotaract spirit could be well and widely carried out.

Thank our committee members Alex, Aris, Cherrie, Dennis, Elvo, Eve, Joyce, Miranda and Stephen for being so patient and supportive. THANK YOU EVERYONE! YOU ARE THE BEST!

I am proud to be one of the committee members, and I believe we all have a great time with all the GWA participants. I think GWA not only stands for Goodwill Ambassador, but also group working appearance! I can see we all are doing a great job there. Cheers!

Never stop learning how to think, to understand, to feel, to share, to enjoy, and to thank!

Three years ago, I missed my chance to participate in GWA as a contestant. I thought I'd never be able to join this eye-opening activity. Surprise! Surprise! This year I had the honor to help organize the whole event. Though in the end, I didn't go to Mongolia, my experience in putting the activity together was equally rewarding. We were short of funding but we were able to secure sponsorship. We improved our selection process by incorporating an interview camp into the program. Our committee members evolved from acquaintances to trusted friends. Best of all, we brought a group of young citizens of high calibre into a world where Service Above Self is everyone's mission. We made the impossible a reality through hard work and teamwork. We made a difference!

We've finally got a chance to visit Mongolia (our own district 3450)!! Applause for the ambassadors and Rotaractors who take up the responsibility to introduce Macao to the Mongolians and also the committee who did so much behind for making it a success!

I'm glad I've the chance to witness the birth from the 1st to the 6th Goodwill Ambassadors, and see the friendship grown in the club. Though we have lots of hardship each year, we are still united and have never been defeated. Hope the club can explore much further in the upcoming years!

Hi, everybody! I am Stephen Lo, one of the rotaractor who went on this wonderful Mongolia trip together with 3 other rotaractors from the Rotaract Club of Macau and 5 Goodwill Ambassadors.

Being the first time in Mongolia and having switched to the post of rotaract member instead of like two years ago being a Goodwill Ambassador myself to Australia, I see this trip as a unique experience for me, for everybody on the trip and for the Mongolia fellows. As a team from Macau, we “see” and learn a lot from Mongolia and hopefully be able to delivery messages from our Mongolian fellows and share our knowledge and experience of Mongolia back in Macau and probably our 3450 district in recent future perspective.

We thank you every assistance we received in the overall achievement of this Goodwill Ambassador project and this unique trip, which nothing can replace! Overall, this year’s Goodwill Ambassador project is GREAT and the Mongolia visit is EXCELLENT in which the cultural exchange, friendship building, promoting Macau, Rotaract Clubs interaction, “electricity and water saving” theme visit/learning have all be successfully achieved. All these are indescribable with words but hopefully, as mentioned, what has been seen, experienced, learned can be shared to our fellows, to the public; “reused” in future perspective to our society. So, please kindly bear with us and wait to see, okay!?! Cheers!

Canny Ho

Having the honor to be the Goodwill Ambassador to Mongolia, I experience one of the most wonderful times through out the whole process, including the interview camp, the presentation as well as the entire trip.

In the days in Mongolia, in addition to sharing their knowledge in water and electricity conservation and resources, another thing which I think I learn the most is about adapting to new culture and coordination within the team.

Mongolia is somehow different compared to what I thought before. It is a country that is still in early stage of development: it seems even more desolate under the freezing temperature when trees and grasses all withered

Fortunately, Education is being valued in Mongolia, they have hundreds of University; we can see from our Rotaract members that their educational level is high; with education, we see future with hope. They also establish relationship with regional countries and receive assistance in different areas, like Japan, Korea. Through which more resources can be utilized for further developing their people, in turn their country. I feeling delighted towards the help contributed by different countries and also our club because I really see the effectiveness contributed towards the next generation.

The cooperation between Japan and Mongolia has effectively contributed in keeping the natural beauty of Mongolia as well as its resources

Everything starts with education, assistance in Education area is also as important as above. I see future development and advancement through the importance they emphasis on education's importance on future life. With the help between clubs and clubs, its Motto as "service above self" is really experienced.

The cooperation between Japan and Mongolia has effectively contributed in keeping the natural beauty of Mongolia as well as its resources

I am proud of being the goodwill ambassador with Jason, Chester, Costa and Ellie, as each of us possess totally different but distinctive character. I each of us make good use of our own strength and interdependent on each other. I thanks in having such excellent partners and I do value their participation in this trip a lot as they are giving me wonderful times. The most impressive is about going up to the stage and present Macau in front of a large audience without any prior notification. We cooperate and deliver in a presentable way that wins a big hand, where I achieve really the greatest content within the whole trip.

I thanks for Alberto, Steven, Eugene and Carita's leading role in the entire trip, giving us direction and confidence. Especially for Eugene as being my companion during the home stay, giving me pampering when I was lost as well as providing a more objective view and comprehensive information on the club with advice.

Last but not least, I also express my greatest gratitude towards Peggy, Herbert, Bagi and all the other who have rendered support to us. Without those arrangements our trip will not go smooth and be able to experience Mongolia in this way. I see the power generated among Rotaracts and Rotary, which is not limited to geographical boundary and therefore I look forward to contribute my ability so as to strengthen this power in the coming days! Thank you so much for this unforgettable trip!

POWER in Mongolian. We re Power!

“Sain bainuu?”

Chester Chou

“Sain bainuu?”, with the greeting sentence “how are you?” in Mongolian, we start on our role of goodwill ambassador in Ulaan Bataar, Mongolia.

During these 6 days, we met many different people, who are from different industries like education, tourism, civil servant, and those very bright university students, etc. Truly, we did have a great time with pleasure with them.

What have we done at Mongolia? Visiting and exchanging the experience of water and electricity plant, sleeping in a Gher hotel, eating traditional braised lamb, watching the starry night at the meadow, climbing up Turtle Rock, experience the chilly weather of -20 °C, staying in Mongolian families and celebrating the birthday with the host, as well as meeting and clubbing with those very gracious Mongolian friends, etc. Mongolian memory is fresh from my brain, as if just happening last night. These experiences made my trip become splendid and unforgettable.

After the trip, besides broadening our horizon, we have learnt much about “Communication”. How to communicate and get along with the people with different languages (without common language), different food and taste, different cultures, habits and attitudes? These can reinforce our social skill and cultural adaptability, which can be as well a pre-exercise for entering the “real” society. We gained a good lesson about “Cultural Difference” in this trip.

Hereby, I would like to say thank you to all of my fellows, and our Mongolian friends. During the trip, when we encountered the problems or difficulties, whether large or small, we would definitely unite together to sorted out the problems. I believe this is the best way of teambuilding. Lastly, I must say thank you to Bagi individually, in this trip, he was acting a very important person, arranging everything for us, and taking very good care of us. Without him, our trip would not be such magnificent, much obliged to you!

Opps, truly sorry, last but not least, thank you so much to Rotary and Rotaract Club of Macau giving us such great opportunity to join this full of happiness programme, Goodwill Ambassador! Wish we can bring this fantastic experience to the next ten years GWA winners!

Cordially,
Chester

“How can the locals survive in such a freezing country?” I exclaimed as long as I stepped outside the airport. If my memory served me right, it was only -8 deg. Centigrade which was the warmest day during the trip.

Our city tour of Ulan Bator started upon the next day of arrival, we first visited Gandan Monastery. In the past it was one of the main Buddhist centers in Asia famous for its library collection of religious documents. However the monastery was severely damaged during the repression of 30s. We were impressed by the miserable history.

Once in a lifetime every monk Mongolian lives in monastery for the pilgrimage. Their solemnity was highly respected by the locals and us.

By the way we walked into one of the remained chapels, and saw a 20 meters high statue of Megzhid Janraisig god erected as a symbol commemorating the Mongolia's independence. It was amazing!

After lunch, we visited Winter Palace of Bogd Khan. This palace now displays the collection of personal belongings of the last Khaan and his wife. Our attentions were attracted by paintings depicting with a slice of humor and irony scenes from the everyday life of Mongols in the turn of this century.

We enjoyed the welcome dinner offered by the Rotaract Club of Tuul. Later our team was separated into two by two to different host family. Thanks God! The one that Jason and I were assigned to was absolutely nice. A warm atmosphere was created since our hosts treated us as their family members. It's great!

Costa U

Having finished family breakfast, we started our day 3 city tour. Well thank to those who worked for us. Due to their friendly arrangements, we got the chance to places where were not open to public. We visited Thermal Power Plant-3, which supplies 17% of electricity demand throughout Mongolia and 32% of thermal energy demand of Ulan Bator.

We're glad that the staffs there gave us all the details we want. We were told that the plant consists of 2 coal firing parts: low pressure one and high pressure one, and walk inside the workshop. We also dropped in the operation room to see how different departments cooperate. We knew that their goal is to transfer the entire instrumentation and control system into automatic system.

Later we visited National History Museum, where we got an overview of the geography, flora and fauna of Mongolia. Of course, my favorite is an outstanding collection of dinosaur bones, which were found in the Gobi Desert, they claimed. The museum is located just across the street from the Government House.

The museum offers the richest collection on the history of Mongolia, from Stone Age to modern times. It turned out that Mongolia was a tropical rainforest thousands years ago where nurtured countless species of creatures. Certainly, the living dinosaurs are included.

After that we delivered a brief speech to the Rotary club and had a nice dinner with them. We shared with them our cultures and living experiences, so did they.

Having returned to our host family, we chatted with our host, Bagi and his wife, sharing the video and pictures of how Macau looks like. Though we were a bit tired, we played with their daughter, took photos, enjoyed the happy hours we had here.

Next morning I was really touched that Bagi borrowed me his shoes when he saw I was wearing the trainers to the countryside. He was worried that I might get cold. Many thanks for his carefulness, it's nice of him! This is what I need to learn – carefulness.

I was full of fantasy when I was waiting for the first Mongolian traditional taste – milk tea of goat. Yet I could say “I'm loving it” if I had a stuffy nose. Later I got used to its smell, and it kept me warm, I think. The more I drank, the warmer I was. Does it matter with its ingredient? Maybe.

To make the experience more intense, we climbed the Turtle Rock. Besides two girls we all were not afraid of falling down in spite of its steep. We took many photos along the mountain road! When we were in the summit and looked down, the scene was spectacular. Having the experience of visual beauty, I best felt engaged in the nature.

If you asked me what I learned most, I would, without any hesitation, answer you “conserve water”. After 2 days in Gher Hotel, I fully experienced the bitterness of no water. I learnt it from a quiet embarrassing experience – It seems like I used all the mere water to brush my teeth once.....I was shocked, anyway.

All of the above are my unforgettable experiences of this trip, and I would like to thank the Rotaract Club of Macau for the promotion of our international understanding and the opportunity of making friends.

During this trip, I realized that body language is universal and crucial, especially when I am traveling foreign country that English is not popular. By the way friendly smiles are always regarded as politeness in all languages.

Costa,
2007/12/11

Mongolia, which is a country name I have known from the history text book when I was in secondary school. It has been a mysterious and beautiful country in my mind since then. I love traveling but I have never dreamed that I can visit there. In the November of this year, I am pleased to have the chance of joining a culture exchange program to this ancient country, which brought me a memorable experience.

In Mongolia, the temperature was about -20°C at that time. And I didn't get used to such a cold weather, I didn't feel warm even I have already wear a lot. The second day we had been to Mongolia, we went sight-visit. While I was freezing under the cold weather and didn't get so much interest at the attraction, I was impressed by this embroidery hanged at the door of a temple. I stood and stared at it for a while. It is a simple story the elephant helped the monkey to get the apples and the monkey shared them with the elephant. It indicates that the importance of team-working even within the animals' world.

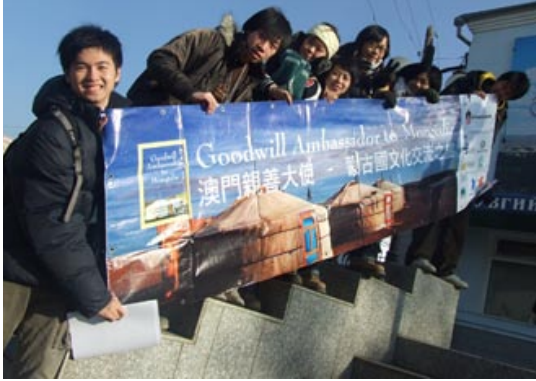

What we nine people experienced in this trip may be similar, but what we feel could be different. After I was told to write something about the trip, the first thing I think of is this embroidery, and then the second comes to how we take care of each other although some of us are even newly known. The problems happened during the trip were solved because of our cooperation. I was touched by the spirit of the Rotaractrians, which is sharing and working as one team. However, may everyone realize that it is also what our generation is lacking in and what we need to take awareness? Just like the story in behind the embroidery, you can image that if the elephants did not help the monkey, I believe that no apples they could get or could only get less.

I understand that it is the same in our society. When we want to enjoy the benefits from the environment, we need each other to work as one team in different positions. As well as we come across a problem, we need to hand in hand and heart with heart to get it solved. Finally, we need t contribution and sharing to society. Those are what can let us enjoy a more harmonious society, like how the monkey and the elephant can enjoy.

At the beginning of this trip, I would use “freezing” to describe when we arrived to airport at Ulaan Baatar, the capital of Mongolia. It was minus 8 °C when we stepped out the flight. I have no experience to deal with such cold weather before. Moreover, I felt getting warm very quickly. The reason was neither the heater nor thick clothes. It was warm that we had sincere greetings from Rotaract Club of Tuul. During the few days’ trip, I did enjoy the trip by their enthusiastic hospitality and in touch with Mongolia’s heroic history and culture. In addition, I shall especially thank you for my host family. He and his family expressed the truly hospitality. They even shared their bedroom to us. We also enjoy their home-made dishes and warmth family time.

During the trip, I would highlight my experience of staying the Gher (Mongolia horde house). Although we were living the camp site which is better equipped, we already experienced the Mongolian’s living. It was vast to overlook the pastureland as well as charming to enjoy the twinkled stars night. We tasted the Horhog – Mongolian traditional food. We became wild to devour the whole piece of lamb and drinking our self-bring Macau Portuguese red wine. It was an unforgettable fusion cuisine!

Unlike the general travel, we also investigated the topic of conservation of water and electricity. We visited the power plant, water plant, renewable energy centre. I observed that Mongolia is looking for the balance between economic development and environmental issue. Macau is the same case. We have to keep process for the energy conservation with current rapid development. Besides, we also visited the secondary school sponsor by Rotary Club of Tuul to realize the work of them.

I would comment that the trip will not be memorable if we do not have teammates as us. We made the trip different! Our trip is full of fun, happiness as well as excitement. We are helping each other, sharing as well as joking each other... :) Indeed, we may have the cultural shock by the language barrier and culture difference. We had overcome the difficulties during trip. I also thank you for leaders and organizing committee all the dedicated preparations and arrangements.
